Sustainability Certification and Its Role in The Selection of Furniture

This continuing education course covers BIFMA's e3 Furniture Sustainability Standard, which is the basis for LEVEL certification. The content defines what LEVEL measures, how it works, and how it goes above and beyond other rating systems for addressing furniture's ecological, social, and wellness impacts. Participants will understand how to find LEVEL certified products and easily include them in the furniture selection process at no added cost to those who procure the product. You will understand how to use the public LEVEL product registry to compare products and how this tool streamlines the specifying and procurement process.

Who Should Attend

A&D professionals, LEED AP and Green Associates, facility managers, purchasing professionals, furniture producers and dealers, customers
